

Using information from the book, select an answer from the right and write the letter in the box beside the statement.

A Titanosaur, which is on display at the American Museum of Natural History, is this many feet long.

A. 1822

The warmest year on record worldwide was this year.

B. 120

British paleontologist Mary Anning was one of the first people to find and display fossils. She found her first major fossil, an ichthyosaur skeleton, at this age.

C. 122

Ice sheets in the North and South Poles are melting at a rate of about this many cubic miles per year.

D. 2016

A French scientist named Henri Marie Ducrotay created the word paleontology in this year.

E. 12

